

SHOW YOUR SPARK!

SHOW YOUR SPARK! is a FREE school assembly program promoting creative expression and self-advocacy in learning.

SHOW YOUR SPARK! helps build student awareness and understanding of how our brains work and the different ways we learn.

If you are interested in scheduling an assembly or need more information, please contact:

Lisa Litsey, Manager, National Assembly Programs
415.992.5439 or ShowYourSpark@gmail.com

SHOW YOUR SPARK! PROGRAM DESCRIPTION

Time: 40 - 45 minutes (can be modified to fit your school's schedule)

kids who struggle in school need to know it's okay to learn differently. There are currently 2.9 million students receiving special education services for LD (learning disabilities), and research shows that this population of students is more likely to suffer from poor self-esteem, low self-confidence, and subsequent high-risk behavior. Similarly, students with LD are often caught in the cycle of bullying - either as victims or bullies themselves.

SHOW YOUR SPARK! promotes understanding, helps increase self-esteem, and builds self-awareness among the entire student population through the following activities:

- Fun, entertaining presentation in which Rob Langston, motivational and inspirational speaker, shares his personal experience of growing up with dyslexia
- Interactive introduction of SparkTop.org, Best Educational Website 2007 (W3 Awards)
- Giveaways for educators and students, including activities and resources

