

Division of Special Education and disAbility Research

George Mason University’s special education faculty received three grant awards from the U.S. Department of Education (OSEP). Faculty are recruiting up to 15 educators to complete full-time doctoral studies that prepare them for careers as higher education faculty. Financial packages include annual stipends, full tuition coverage, health insurance, travel for conferences, and funding for research.

For information on all three grants, visit: <https://kihd.gmu.edu/leadership-grants>

Special Education PhD Information Session November 19th

Tuesday, November 19, 2019

Park at Rappahannock Deck (Pay Parking)

6:00 p.m. F2F + virtual

Location is Finley Hall Room 114, GMU Fairfax Campus

<https://info.gmu.edu/campus-maps-and-directions/>

Virtual Participation (cannot be driving): Click on the link, then “mute” for meeting duration:

<https://gmu.webex.com/gmu/j.php?MTID=mde6078e5750434578566df3f91417109>

Email questions to follow up after the meeting with corresponding Faculty.

Video of the November 19 Information Session: posted on web site after this session.

Three Grant Awards

Project ASPIRE	Project PRISE	Virginia Is for Leaders
Project ASPIRE: Advancing Special Education Pedagogy, Innovation, and Research toward Effective Interventions focuses on technology in teacher preparation and research for students with high-incidence disabilities. This program offers student support for tuition, fellowships, travel, and supplies with funding from a U.S. Department of Education (OSEP) grant.	Project PRISE: Policy and Research-Intensive Special Education focuses on linking research to policy to target the special education teacher shortage. This program offers student support for tuition, fellowships, travel, and supplies with funding from a U.S. Department of Education (OSEP) grant. Collaboration with Virginia Commonwealth University.	Virginia Is for Leaders: Development of Experts in Evidence-based Literacy Practices for Students with Disabilities focuses on the development of experts in evidence-based literacy practices for students with high-incidence disabilities. This program offers student support for tuition, fellowships, travel and supplies with funding from a U.S. Department of Education (OSEP) grant. Collaboration with the University of Virginia.

Ready to Apply?

Potential applicants must be accepted into the PhD program. The application deadline is January 15, 2020.

<https://education.gmu.edu/phd-in-education/phd-admissions>